Microsoft Copilot Tutorial

Microsoft's AI assistant — in Windows, Edge and Office — Free preview

Microsoft Copilot is Microsoft's AI assistant. You can use it at copilot.microsoft.com, in Windows 11, in the Edge browser, and in the mobile app. With a Microsoft account you can start with the free version.

Copilot can chat, find the latest information from the web, write text, create images, and summarize the page open in Edge. In Windows, press the Copilot key (button) and it opens.

What is it?

Copilot's strength is its link to Microsoft's world — Copilot inside Word, Excel, PowerPoint and Outlook needs a Microsoft 365 subscription.

In this guide you will learn: how to start Copilot, how to use it in Windows and Edge, which tasks to use it for, and the free version's limits.

How to start — a glimpse

1. Open copilot.microsoft.com or press the Copilot button/key in Windows 11.
2. Sign in with a Microsoft account — signing in saves chat history, gives longer chats and voice.
