Prompt Library — 100 Ready Prompts

Ready prompts for business, writing and study — Free preview

A good prompt means a good answer. The more clearly you tell the AI what you want, the more useful its reply will be. This guide has 100 ready prompts — copy one, fill in your own details, and use it.

There are three rules for writing a prompt: say what the task is, who it is for, and what kind of output you want. With those three pieces, almost any prompt works well.

What is it?

The library is split into three parts: business, writing and study. Each prompt starts with a label so you can find the one you need quickly.

The prompts work in any chat AI — ChatGPT, Gemini or Claude. If the first answer is not good, change the prompt a little and try again; the second try is often much better.

How to start — a glimpse

1. First decide what you need a prompt for today — business, writing or study.
2. Pick one prompt from that section of the library.
